

MANUEL STOTZ Sells Tobacco to Children Kingsway Capital used to Launder Proceeds of illegal Tobacco sales

Advanced Inhalation Rituals

AIR for short

AIR sounds healthy right? Wrong. The truth is AIR which is owned by Manuel Stotz through Kingsway Capital is engaged in the sale of Tobacco to minors. Closely associated with Kingsway Capital is Howard Marks of Oak Tree Capital Management. Despite contracting cancer Howard Marks supports AIR and its sales of tobacco to minors.

Kingsway Capital is involved in Money laundering of these proceeds from the sale of tobacco to kids.

Manuel Stotz travels frequently to Developing markets where regulations are loose and sales to CHILDREN are common. Bangladesh, Malaysia, Philippines, Sri Lanka, Egypt, Pakistan and many more countries.

Manuel Stotz also went on a podcast where he arrogantly laughed “Hey, don’t blame me, they are the ones buying it” as though children can truly know just how dangerous is.

In a bid to further skirt regulations AIR and Manuel Stotz have developed E-Hookah aka Shisha aka waterpipes and has started lobbying in the USA to allow this form of smoking purportedly as a cultural practice.

He recently unsuccessfully attempted to rope in Japan Tobacco in his scheme. The FCA and the Food Standards Authority have been informed and encouraged to investigate.

The London School of Economics has accepted donations from Manuel Stotz but refuses to comment. Yet another mark of SHAME on the London School of Economics which has been caught accepting money from dictators. The London School of Economics is now accepting the proceeds of a crime and corrupt foreign practices. The scholarship which is named “Pass the Torch” should instead be named “Pass the Tobacco”. Also implicated in this farce are Veronika Kapustina (BSc Economics 2009), co-founder of Houghton Street Ventures, and Luca Faloni (MSc Management 2007, MSc Global Politics 2010) and Baroness Minouche Shafik, LSE President and Vice Chancellor as well as Harry Hughes, Philanthropy Manager of LSE who is clearly turning a blind eye to this illegal conduct.
